

Artists in Residence in Everglades EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK

Harumi Abe

Japanese native, Harumi Abe is an artist who has shown her art extensively in South Florida. At age 19 she relocated herself to Miami on her own to pursue her dream of studying art. She received BFA from International Fine Arts College in 2003 and MFA from Florida International University in 2008. Abe is an adjunct professor at Broward College and FIU and the gallery director of Broward College Central New Gallery. In 2012 she exhibited at the David Castillo gallery in Wynwood. She has upcoming solo shows at Broward College South Campus Gallery and Ft. Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport's Lee Wagener Art Gallery. She now makes her art in a homemade studio in her backyard in Hollywood, FL. She is a recipient of the 2008 South Florida Cultural Consortium for Visual and Media Artists and has attended residency at Vermont Studio Center in 2010.
